Lateral location of the rear end has always been a problem on the 1959, 1960, 1961, 1962, 1963, 1964 Impalas due to the angle of the panhard rod at ride height. Raising or lowering the ride height shifts the rear end laterally and if the panhard rod is not parallel to ground at final ride height, the car will be unstable around turns and over bumps depending on the final angle of the panhard rod.

The Studebaker Lark is a compact car that was produced by Studebaker from 1959 to 1966. From its introduction in early 1959 until 1962, the Lark was a product of the Studebaker-Packard Corporation. In mid-1962, the company dropped "Packard" from its name and reverted to its pre-1954 name, the Studebaker Corporation. In addition to being built in Studebaker's South Bend, Indiana, home plant, the Lark and its descendants were also built in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, from 1959 to 1966 by Studebaker
